The concept of album-specific pages was created with the intention of having a good-looking thumbnail for album-entries like "The Beatles - An Evening With The Beatles [1962]" and "Arnold Whistler - A Retrospective [11/1987]" (-;-). The idea is to print out the pages of an album-collection and later bind them, so they will stay that way. All pages are user-friendly and can be done in your own graphic studio, online or through your photo management program. This software is designed to make album-pages much more personal, and to allow the use of more than one album art. And it can make album books much more attractive to yourself and your customers.
