If you pass this threshold, your limit would be reset by creating the last WAV file. I dont know i must have messed something up. when i went to create the game it said "The amount of sound effect files you have exceeds the limit!" And when i had ~4K sound files, it became "The maximum number of sound files can't exceed 10.000" therefore i had 10K. I think that's what messed it up, because everything else worked fine... But as I said, when you reach 10K i think it will break the thing. Phylogenetic diversity of actinobacteria as demonstrated by the 16S rDNA-based DGGE technique. The bacterial communities present in the rhizosphere of Chinese cabbage (Brassica rapa L.) seedlings and plants were analysed. Bacteria in one type of rhizosphere soil were numerically dominated by gram-positive bacteria, while in another type of soil, gram-negative bacteria, gram-positive bacteria, yeast, and actinobacteria were found to be the predominant bacteria. Bacteria in the rhizosphere of Chinese cabbage were characterised by the presence of actinobacteria, dextranucrases, and phosphate-solubilizing bacteria, as determined by the development of PCR primers specific to these groups of bacteria from soil DNA. We also performed 16S rDNA-based denaturing gradient gel electrophoresis to examine the diversity of actinobacteria in rhizosphere soil. Eighteen different actinobacterial species were determined by PCR analysis and their identities were confirmed by sequence analysis. The actinobacteria appeared to be generally well distributed in soil, which was clearly evidenced by the presence of DGGE bands representing actinobacteria. The DGGE patterns of actinobacterial populations in the four types of soils were statistically analysed, showing that their band distributions closely resembled the results of the bacterial communities in soil. The actinobacterial assemblage based on DGGE analysis was further compared to those of alpha- and beta-proteobacteria, gram-positive bacteria, and gram-negative bacteria. Our results indicated that the actinobacteria found in the rhizosphere of Chinese cabbage plants were phylogenetically diverse, which was different from that found in the rhizosphere of terrestrial plants in Singapore.Q: Use Density Function to find the probability a random variable falls between 0.2 and 0.5 Using Density Function, I am stuck with the following question: What is the probability that a random variable X takes value between 0.2 and 0.5? The answers given for similar questions are written in terms of the discrete model, where the X falls within the different categories and the probability is then computed. However I would like to do it the density way. Here is what I have done so far: $f(x) = \begin{cases} \frac{0.2 - 0.1}{0.1} \end{cases}$
